1 Organization and principal activity

The Company, not having a share capital, was incorporated in Hong Kong under the Companies Ordinance with liability limited by guarantee of not exceeding $100.00 for each member. The Company's registered office is located at Unit 1, 6th Floor, Eastern Harbour Centre, 28 Hoi Chak Street, Quarry Bay, Hong Kong.

Pursuant to a special resolution, the name of the Company was changed from RCHKS-HANDA Projects International Limited to The Leprosy Project Limited.

The Company is a non-profit making organization that aims at providing medical assistance and rehabilitation, and improving the livelihood, living condition and educational opportunities for people affected by leprosy and their families in Liangshan Prefecture, Sichuan Province, China. It also aims at reducing leprosy-based stigma and discrimination through public education.

2 Adoption of new / revised Hong Kong Financial Reporting Standards ("HKFRSs")

The Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants has issued a number of new and revised Hong Kong Financial Reporting Standards ("HKFRSs") and Interpretations that are effective for the current accounting period. For the current period, the Company has adopted these HKFRSs.

The Company has not early adopted the HKFRSs that have been issued but are not yet effective for the current accounting period. In the opinion of the directors, the adoption of such HKFRSs will not result in substantial changes to the Company's results and financial position.

3 Significant accounting policies

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the HKFRSs. The significant accounting policies adopted are as follows:

a. Impairment of assets

Assets that have indefinite useful lives are not subject to amortization, which are at least tested annually for impairment and are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts may not be recoverable. Assets that are subject to amortization are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell and value in use. Impairment loss is recognized in the statement of comprehensive income to reduce the asset to its recoverable amount.

b. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less aggregate depreciation and impairment losses. The cost of an item of property, plant and equipment shall be recognized as an asset if, and only if, it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

The gain or loss arising from the disposal or retirement of an asset is determined as the difference between the sale proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and is recognized in the statement of comprehensive income.

Depreciation is calculated to write off the cost of property, plant and equipment over their estimated useful lives to the Company on a straight line basis. The useful lives are reviewed and adjusted, if appropriate, at each balance sheet date. The principal base for each class of property, plant and equipment is:-

Furniture and equipment	25.00%

c. Retirement benefits costs

The Company operates two defined contribution retirement benefits schemes for employees: Mandatory Provident Fund (MPF) Scheme under the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Ordinance in Hong Kong and appropriate local retirement scheme pursuant to the relevant labour rules and regulations in the PRC. The assets of the schemes are held separately from those of the Company by independent administrators. The contributions payable by the Company are charged to the statement of comprehensive income as incurred.

The Company is also obligated to make payments on cessation of employment in certain circumstances to certain employees who have completed the required years of service with the Company. The employee benefit obligation is dependent on the employee's current salary and years of service. The Company does not set aside any assets to fund any remaining obligations which have been provided in the financial statements.

d. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be measured reliably, on the following bases:

- Income from fund raising and donations is recognized when donations are received.
- Other income is recognized when it is received.
- Subscription fee income is recognized on a straight line basis over the subscription period.

Deferred tax is the tax expected to be payable or recoverable on differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit, and is accounted for using the statement of financial position liability method. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences, and deferred tax assets are recognized to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which deductible temporary differences can be utilized.

f. Operating leases

Leases where substantially all the rewards and risks of ownership of assets remain with the lessors are accounted for as operating leases.

Rental payable under operating leases are accounted for in the statement of comprehensive income on a straight line basis over the period of the respective leases.

8 Financial instruments

Exposure to currency, interest, credit, liquidity and fair value risks arise in the normal course of the Company's activity. These risks are limited by the Company's management policies and practices described below:

a. Currency risk

The Company is mainly exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from the Renminbi ("RMB"). Since Year 2005, the PRC Government introduced a managed floating exchange rate system to allow the value of the RMB to fluctuate within a regulated band based on market supply and demand and by reference to a basket of currencies. The Government of the People's Republic of China in the future may make further adjustments to the exchange rate system.

Apart from the above, there is no significant currency risk.

b. Interest rate risk

The Company has no significant interest bearing assets or liabilities. Any changes in market interest rates will not pose a significant risk to the Company.

c. Credit risk

The Company has no significant credit risks through effective credit control procedures and policies.

d. Liquidity risk

The Company continuously focuses on its liquidity risk management to ensure sufficient funds are available for operation use. The Company maintains a healthy net cash position to fulfill its liquidity requirements.

The Company is always capable of meeting repayments of loans in the maturities due.

e. Fair value risk

At 31 March 2014, there was no assets or liabilities measured at its fair value. The fair values of cash, deposits with banks, receivables and payables are not materially different from their carrying amounts.

Fair value estimates are made at a specific point in time and based on relevant market information and information about the financial instruments. These estimates are subjective in nature and involve uncertainties and matters of significant judgement and therefore cannot be determined with precision. Changes in assumptions could significantly affect the estimate
